We Explore
Upper End of DeGray Reservoir

Armed with some inside information from a guy who had been there, three of us spent Saturday exploring the upper end of DeGray Reservoir, where the Caddo River flows in. We actually entered the river, but it was so flooded we had difficulty distinguishing between river and lake.

The site is about 20 miles north of the dam and overlook, these being reached by turning west off State Highway 7 just north of the Holiday Inn I-30 exit at Arkadelphia. We have cruised DeGray twice at this point, using No. 1 ramp, situated between Highway 7 and the overlook.

But our new information concerned how to go directly by road to the top of the lake where the Caddo River flows in. Here's the dope:

Drive up Highway 7 to Bismarck and turn west on paved State Highway 84, and run 12 miles. Then you encounter a gravel road running off to the left, with a sign saying "To the Lake." There will be three intersections on the gravel route, a total distance of 3 miles. The first is a crossroads, and you go straight through. The second is a fork with a big tree in the center. Turn right here. The final intersection is a left turn leading directly to one of DeGray's 16 magnificent launching ramps. All are steep and wide, the equivalent of the Texarkana Lake ramp at the dam, far exceeding anything on either Narrows or Millwood.

It's 80 miles from Hope to the upper DeGray launching ramp, off State 84, all paved except for the last three miles.

I got this information from Capt. Bob Peterson, who originally got it from Dick Lauterbach, mechanic at Charles Gough's Road Runner Marina, Highway 67 West.

My boat was at Medlin Marine boatyard for refitting of a faulty depth-sounder. Medlin having advised me it was ready Peterson and Gene Allen, our head cameraman, and I took off early Saturday for Hot Springs, lunched there, made a test run on Lake Hamilton, found the depth-sounder to be O.K., loaded up the boat and took off for Bismarck and DeGray Reservoir.

Dick Lauterbach's directions were O.K., except for the three intersections on the gravel road off No. 84, but we figured these out and came to the ramp on the first try.

Upper DeGray is a magnificent blue-and-green wilderness. The lake is 40 feet deep as you come off the ramp, and we still had 20 feet of water when we reached the flooded Caddo River.

We loaded out at 7 p.m., facing a stream of evening bass fishermen coming down the ramp. The heat of the day was gone, and some fine evening fishing lay ahead for the latecomers.

About our own fishing, don't ask. We were just exploring.

But I'm going back to the upper DeGray waters with the color cameras shortly and make color shots for the newspaper while my companions do the fishing honors.

Our next color production will be in The Star tomorrow, Tuesday, June 29—Canada Geese and their goslings—and in all probability the color spread to follow this one will be upper DeGray, with its blue water and magnificent rocky walls.

Prisoners to Show Paintings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Art work by inmates at Cummins Prison Farm will go on display Thursday at the Arkansas Arts Center in Little Rock.

The exhibit, which will include about 100 drawings and paintings by students in art program at Cummins, will remain on display through July 25. Many of the works will be for sale with part of the proceeds going to a prison fund to purchase art supplies for the inmates.

I-30 Won't Be Finished This Year

In all probability, Interstate 30 from Hope to Prescott won't be completed this year, according to John A. Tallant, District Engineer for the Arkansas Highway Department.

The 17 mile section of interstate is divided into three sections. The first section is a stretch of 5.4 miles from Highway 29 to the Emmet interchange. The grading for this section is substantially completed. Concrete paving is scheduled to begin Monday, June 28 and the section should be completed by this fall.

The second section, which is six miles and extends from the Emmet interchange to Highway 332, is the bottleneck of the project. Grading work is not yet completed, which, of course, holds up surfacing work. This section is expected to be completed next spring.

The remaining section is 2.9 miles going from Highway 332 to the existing pavement at Highway 19 in Nevada County. Earth work on this section is now in progress and should be completed in 30 days. It is anticipated that this section will be completed in the fall.

Conviction of Muhammad Ali Reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today reversed the conviction of former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali, who was sentenced to five years imprisonment for draft evasion.

In an 8-0 decision, the court said the record shows that Ali's "beliefs are founded on tenets of the Muslim religion as he understands them."

In the unsigned decision, the court said the government has now fully conceded that Ali's beliefs are based upon "religious training and belief" as set out in previous conscientious objector cases.

The court said the record shows that the boxer's beliefs "are surely no less religiously based" than those in previous cases.

Long-awaited Trip on River Proves Tragic for Boy Scout Troop

By LYNNE OLEON
Associated Press Writer
PRICE, Utah (AP) — For more than four months, Boy Scout troop 442 of Albuquerque, N.M., prepared for a rapids-shooting expedition down the turbulent Green River in southern Utah.

The long-awaited excursion ended Sunday, with one Scout drowned and 25 others rescued after being stranded for three days.

The youths and three adult leaders were floating down the river Thursday, two days after they started their trip, when their 10 red rubber rafts collided with floating logs and capsized.

All 28 were dumped into the rapids.

Jim Bernardoni, 11, lost his life preserver and clung to that of Edwin McCarthy, 13, as the two were swept down the rapids.

Bernardoni made it to shore but McCarthy did not. McCarthy's body was discovered in the river by a canoe expedition Saturday night. Authorities said he apparently had been dead only hours when found.

Twenty-two of the Scouts and the leaders made it to shore at Rock Creek, a clearing nestled among the sheer cliffs that tower over the river—about 21 miles east of Price, Utah.

They were rescued Sunday afternoon by helicopter from Hill Air Force Base near Ogden, Utah.

"We lost most of our food and gear when the boats went down so food was extremely short,"

Pedestrian Death Toll Near 10,000, Group Wants Safety Program

Only 7 of 23 Escape in Plane Crash

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A chartered DC3 airliner carrying 23 Californians, 19 of them real estate salesmen, crashed into rocky coastal waters during takeoff. The Coast Guard said seven persons survived.

Ten bodies were recovered after the Sunday night crash about 50 miles south of here. High winds and rough seas with four-foot waves hampered the search for the six missing persons, the Coast Guard reported.

The twin-engine plane, chartered by the Shelter Cove Co. of Los Angeles, was carrying 19 company salesmen, an unidentified woman and the pilot, copilot and stewardess, who were returning home after a weekend at the Shelter Cove land development-resort. The flight was headed for the Los Angeles area with a stop en route at San Jose, airport spokesmen said.

The survivors included the stewardess and six salesmen, the Coast Guard said.

The plane clipped the roof of a sewage treatment building below the bluff at the north end of the runway and hurtled toward the ocean, striking a rock about 50 yards offshore.

The rocks and high seas prevented small boats from getting to the plane wreckage. But Tom Wallace, 21, of Redway, used a surfboard to help two of the survivors to safety, Mrs. Machi said.

Dave Zeb, Humboldt County aviation director, said the aircraft appeared to dip on takeoff before hitting the sewage plant roof about 10 feet below the runway, then shot off a low bluff to the ocean.

Some 30 local fishing boats converged for the rescue work, until Coast Guard aircraft and the 82-foot cutter Point Ledge arrived from Port Bragg, 75 miles south of here. A large spotlight truck on shore illuminated the area for divers and boat crews.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the nation's annual pedestrian death toll nearing 10,000, the National Transportation Safety Board today called on the federal government to put more emphasis on walkers' safety.

The board said results of a study conducted within the Department of Transportation showed little being done to improve pedestrian safety.

"Efforts directed specifically to pedestrian safety vary between one-eighteenth and one-nineteenth of the effort that would be in proportion to pedestrian fatalities," the board said.

Although several agencies within DOT are involved in pedestrian safety, no office or individual is responsible for their coordination, the study said.

"The absence of any organized national pedestrian interest groups and the absence of authorized programs which seek to expand facilities for pedestrian traffic or to improve the efficiency of pedestrian movement are serious drawbacks to pedestrian safety," it stated.

The report cited the "almost total lack of facilities for pedestrian traffic on and across the interstate highway system ..."

During the 1967-1969 period there were 29,000 pedestrian deaths, 72 per cent more than the combined total of all aviation, marine, railroad and grade-crossing fatalities, the board said.

Of all the persons killed in highway accidents during the period, 18 per cent were pedestrians.

The board said more than 53 per cent of pedestrian deaths are in age groups deserving additional protection because of immaturity or advanced age—children below 15 and the elderly above 64.

"Although pedestrian safety is specifically named in the Highway Safety Act of 1966 ... there has never been a public clamor for pedestrian safety comparable to that in other modes of transportation," the report said.

The safety board urged Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe to insure pedestrian safety technology and regulatory actions are coordinated by the two agencies primarily concerned, the Federal Highway Administration and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Postmaster Blackwood has announced that there will be an Open House at the Fulton Post Office from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. on July 1. Special guests will include the Mayor, Marshall, District Manager, Social Security Administration serving this area, Manager, Production Credit Association serving this area, and Manager, Ranch Properties, Inc. which operates an 800-acre pecan orchard, and the local retired employees of the U. S. Postal Service.

Man Perishes in House Fire

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Eugene Gray, 63, of near Lamar (Johnson County) was killed Saturday night when a fire of undetermined origin destroyed his house.

35 Death Sentences Reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today reversed the death sentences of 35 persons, including the electric chair sentence of Richard F. Speck, who was convicted of murdering eight nurses in Chicago in 1966.

Speck was sentenced to death after a jury in Peoria, Ill., convicted him of killing the nurses, one by one, in their South Side Chicago apartment.

In reversing the death penalty, the court cited its 1968 decision holding that persons opposed to the death penalty could not be excluded automatically from juries in capital cases. It also cited two other precedents in reversing one bloc of 20 death cases including Speck's.

Relying on the jury provision known as the Witherspoon case, and various other cases, the court reversed a total of 35 death cases and remanded them to lower courts for further proceedings.

U.S. Court to Rule on Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on the constitutionality of the death penalty.

A brief announcement said the court would hear cases next term from California, Georgia, Illinois and Texas that challenge capital punishment in the light of the Eighth Amendment's ban on "cruel and unusual punishments."

The next term begins in October.

The court also will hear further arguments on the exclusion of opponents of the death penalty from juries.

One of the cases is from Chicago where Lyman A. Moore was convicted of killing a bartender in 1962. Another is from Chatham County, Ga., where a black man, Lucious Jackson Jr., was sentenced to death for the rape of a white woman.

There are currently 648 men and women under death sentence in the United States. Earlier this term the court ruled 5 to 3 against two challenges to death penalty procedures.

Bond Issue at Little Rock Invalid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that the proposed procedure for calling a special election in Little Rock on a $9.5 million Amendment 18 bond issue is invalid.

The high court also ruled that the amendment does not provide authority for five of the purposes for which the money would be spent if the proposed bonds were approved.

The city proposed to accept the petition signed by the owners of property having at least 10 per cent of the total assessed values of the real property in the city.

The unanimous opinion by Associate Justice George Rose Smith said, however, that this procedure did not conform to the intent of the amendment, which says that a petition for a special election must be signed by "10 per cent of the owners of real property ..."

Body of Man Found in Lake

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP) — The body of Doyle Henry, 23, of Fort Smith, Ark., was discovered here Saturday in Lake Ten Killer. Authorities said they believed Henry had drowned June 19 following the collision of two boats.

A spokesman said Henry's body surfaced Saturday near a group of searchers.

Supreme Court Fails to Rule on Pentagon Case But Extends Session

Ellsberg Surrenders at Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Daniel Ellsberg surrendered to federal authorities today and told about 150 persons that he provided the New York Times with secret Pentagon papers and said "I am prepared for all consequences."

Ellsberg had been sought unsuccessfully by the FBI during the weekend. He surrendered as had been promised Saturday by his attorneys.

Ellsberg, 40, a former Pentagon researcher and now a research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, was named as the source of Pentagon papers used as the basis of articles in the New York Times on the origins of the Vietnam war.

He and his wife had been missing from their Cambridge home since a former New York Times newsman said on a radio talk show June 16 that Ellsberg was the Times source of the papers.

Ellsberg talked by telephone to friends since then and appeared on the Walter Cronkite CBS television news show. It was not revealed where the show was filmed and Ellsberg did not say whether he had supplied the documents to the Times.

The warrant for Ellsberg was issued late Friday night in Los Angeles where a grand jury investigated the leak of the documents.

Ellsberg was not charged with giving the papers to The Times, and the newspaper has not disclosed the source.

The Times, The Washington Post, The Boston Globe and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch have been barred temporarily by the courts from publishing any further articles based on the Pentagon study.

Ellsberg's attorneys said Saturday they asked the FBI to "refrain from their efforts to apprehend him" in light of his decision to surrender today.

However, a spokesman for the FBI said the search would continue throughout the weekend.

The warrants for Ellsberg were issued Friday night in Los Angeles.

His lawyers said Ellsberg would surrender immediately if the government would release him on personal recognizance, but the government refused.

All Around Town

Hope are Ruthie Dean Davis, Sue Delaney and Anetia F. Hair.

Arthur Miller's play, "All My Sons", a drama of people torn by tragedies of war, will be presented by the University of Arkansas Theater July 7-8-9. The cast includes Cliff Langford of Hope.

Three students from Hope participated in the University of Arkansas' summer orientation program June 23-25. They are Kenneth Trout, Donald Foster Williams and Scott McRae Wood.

The weekly report from the Hope Police Department shows a fairly quiet one. There were nine traffic violations. Three charged with license violations. Seven charged with drunkenness. Seven for driving while intoxicated. One for carrying a concealed weapon. Two disturbing the peace. Three arrests for burglary. One for failure to answer a summons. One subject was picked up for escape from Newport, Ark. So far this year there have been 164 auto wrecks inside the city limits with 40 persons injured and two deaths resulting.

Papers Can't Publish Data Until Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court did not rule on the Pentagon papers case today but extended its term in order to decide it.

The Court was to have adjourned today until the fall term. But Chief Justice Warren Burger announced from the bench that it would continue sitting to hand down further orders.

In a highly unusual Saturday session over the weekend, the high court heard arguments on government suits seeking to stop the New York Times and the Washington Post from publishing parts of the secret Pentagon history of the Vietnam war.

The fact that the case was heard on Saturday was seen as an indication that the court considers the case of urgent importance. However, Burger made no comment whatsoever about the case today.

Until the court reaches a decision the newspapers will continue to be banned printing material from the history which the government says is too sensitive.

At issue, say the Times and Post, is the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. The Justice Department contends publication of excerpts from the war study will endanger national security, damage U.S. relations with other countries and prolong the Vietnam war.

Millwood Gets New Resident Engineer

The appointment of Jimmy L. Findley as reservoir manager for Millwood Lake and Dam on the Little River was announced today by Col. Vernon W. Pinkey, District Engineer of the Tulsa District, Corps of Engineers. Findley succeeds Herbert R. Smith, who transferred to the Corps' Denison resident office at Lake Texoma.

Findley joined the Tulsa District in 1954 as a member of the Construction division. His first assignments were on military projects at Tinker, Vance, and Altus Air Force Bases in Oklahoma. In 1959, he was transferred to civil works construction, first at John Redmond Dam in Kansas, and later, Keystone Dam in Oklahoma.

In 1963 he was assigned to military construction work on Minute Man missile sites at Whiteman AFB in Missouri, and Grand Forks AFB in North Dakota. Three years later, he returned to Oklahoma, where he worked on construction of the Robert S. Kerr and W. D. Mayo Locks and Dams on the McClellan-Kerr Arkansas River Navigation System until his current assignment.

Findley, his wife, Dorothy Marie, and their two children—Jack, age 12, and Julie Lee, age 7, make their home in Ashdown, Ark.

Minor Accidents for Weekend

Sheriff's office reports two weekend accidents. The first occurred Sunday at 6 p.m. when a car driven by Roger Ficks of Washington overturned on a gravel road between Washington and Columbus. Damage was minor.

At 8:15 this morning a deer ran into a car driven by Judy England four miles out on the Shover Springs Road. The left front fender, left front window, and the windshield were damaged.

Meet Called to Battle Drug Problem

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, newly named chief White House warrior against drug abuse, was called to Capitol Hill today to outline his strategy to combat what President Nixon terms America's public enemy No. 1.

Jaffe, 37, an advocate of methadone as a substitute in treating heroin addicts, was designated leadoff witness as the House Public Health subcommittee began hearings on about 50 bills attacking drug abuse.

Jaffe, brought in from Illinois where he directed a fight against drug abuse, was named by Nixon as a special presidential consultant on narcotics and dangerous drugs. Nixon created an office in the White House to coordinate federal antidrug actions, and asked Congress to give it legislative status.

Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., the subcommittee chairman, said before the start of the session that the "scope of the problem is sufficient to be considered a national menace."

Rogers said Nixon's proposals on drug addiction "will be discussed in detail," as will a measure, sponsored by the chairman and several other congressmen on the committee, which would use existing community mental health centers to set up addict-treatment programs.

The committee-supported bill, Rogers added, "to quickly implement a network of addiction treatment centers," probably will "eventually be the backbone of whatever legislation we finally produce."

Nixon has proposed spending $155 million more on federal antidrug programs. The additional money would raise to $370 million the government's proposed fiscal 1972 spending on antidrug plans.

The Rogers bill would set up more than 300 treatment sites within a year via funding of currently available community mental health centers, the chairman said. His bill would add $160 million to the already authorized $60 million for this purpose in fiscal 1972.

Use of all Public Health Service facilities, he added, "will give us even greater coverage. We will include the entire spectrum of addiction, from the military to the civilian, for this epidemic is not limited to any segment of our society. Indeed, it is one which is infesting every layer of our society."

Nixon's broad program was dispatched to Congress in a message which said the aim is "to tighten the noose around the necks of drug peddlers, and thereby loosen the noose around the necks of drug users."

More Warm Humid Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More warm, humid weather is in store for the state for the next few days as a large high-pressure cell located over the southeastern states continues to circulate warm, moist Gulf air into the mid-South.

Moisture and afternoon heating will be sufficient to offer the chance of showers again through Tuesday evening. High temperatures Tuesday will again reach into the 90s, with overnight lows expected to be in the upper 60s and low 70s.

The state had a rather quiet Sunday night as far as the weather is concerned, compared to the violent weather in the form of thundershowers and thunderstorms that moved westward across Arkansas Sunday afternoon. Strong winds hit parts of Northeast Arkansas, and several funnel clouds were reported in connection with the storms. However, wind damage was not major, and no injury was reported.

Overnight lows across the state included Fayetteville 64, Harrison 65, Jonesboro 69, Pine Bluff 71, Texarkana 70, El Dorado 66, Memphis 69, Little Rock 70 and Fort Smith 70.

wood and 3-year-old Maryoke, officers said. The other victim was identified as Norman R. Davis, 50, of St. Louis.

The Williams family was en route to the funeral of Williams' grandfather, 77-year-old Ben Herring of Vaiden. The funeral services were held at the Vaiden Hills Baptist Church a short time after the accident.

A spokesman for Roberts Funeral Home at Winona said Davis had been visiting the area and was a friend of the family.

The Mississippi Highway Patrol said two persons in the other car were injured and hospitalized. They were identified as Brenda Evans, 25, of Winona, and one-year-old Joseph Carl Evans of Winona.

Construction Grants to Schools Valid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the multimillion-dollar federal program of construction grants to church-affiliated colleges. The vote was 5 to 4.

At the same time, the court struck down Pennsylvania and Rhode Island assistance systems "because as we see it they involve excessive entanglement between church and state," said Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Under the federal program, set up by a 1963 law, an estimated $240 million in construction grants have gone to church-affiliated colleges and universities. The funds are used principally for the building of laboratories and gymnasiums.

Burger said the only provision that violated the Constitution was allowing the colleges to use the buildings for religious purposes after 20 years. He said this would "in part have the effect of advancing religion" and hence violates the First Amendment.

The ruling was supported by Justice Harry A. Blackmun, the second Nixon administration appointees, and Justices John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Byron R. White. The court's four liberals dissented. They are Justices William O. Douglas, Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall.

Burger said of the federal program: "There is no evidence that religion seeps into the use of any of these facilities." He noted that in the past the court had allowed federal construction grants for hospitals operated by religious orders and had approved bus transportation, textbooks and tax exemptions for church schools or their students.

"The crucial question is not whether some benefit accrues to a religious institution as a consequence of the legislative program, but whether its principal or primary effect advances religion."

Underworld Boss Shot, Wounded

By TOME GOLDSTEIN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Reputed underworld boss Joseph Colombo Sr. was shot in the head and critically wounded Monday in front of a crowd of thousands of Italian-Americans at an outdoor unity day rally.

A second man was shot to death. Police said they thought the second man was the gunman who shot Colombo, but they gave no explanation of who shot the second man.

The dead man, a black, was identified from papers on his body as Jerome Johnson, 25, New Brunswick, N.J. The police said he had several arrests and convictions.

Shortly after the shootings, a caller told The Associated Press that the shooting was the work of a black revolutionary group.

U.S. Quietly Cuts Forces in Europe

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States quietly withdrew two Air Force squadrons from Europe last year although top U.S. officials were pledging to maintain and improve American strength there.

This was learned after a senior American commander testified before the House Appropriations Committee "just last year additional Air Force squadrons were added to the dual-based list."

Under the dual-basing concept, certain Army and Air Force units stationed in the United States are committed specifically to NATO defense and are rotated to Europe periodically for maneuvers.

Most such units were brought back to his country in a program started in 1964 as a way of reducing the balance-of-payments deficit.

The bulk of these dual-based forces, including two Army infantry brigades and four jet fighter squadrons, were pulled back to the United States in 1968 to the accompaniment of a major announcement from the Pentagon.

By contrast, the Air Force acknowledged, withdrawal last year of an RF4C reconnaissance squadron was announced only locally at Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., and return of a C130 tactical airlift squadron was not announced at all.

Last Dec. 3, President Nixon sent a message to a NATO ministerial meeting in Brussels, promising that, along with allies, "The United States will maintain and improve its own forces in Europe and will not reduce them unless there is reciprocal action from our adversaries."

American officials say that even though withdrawn from Europe, the various Army and Air Force units remain committed to defense of the Western alliance and can be flown back to Europe if an emergency.

But some senior military officers have made no secret of their coolness toward the dual-basing idea.

Air Force Gen. David A. Burchinal, deputy U.S. commander in Europe, told the Appropriations Committee last month that "dual-based forces are not a substitute for in-place forces in or near their combat positions on a daily basis."

Burchinal said dual-basing has increased defense spending "due to the requirement of maintaining two sets of equipment for many dual-based units and rotating elements of these forces to Europe annually for exercises."

The Air Force lists 12 units in the United States as part of the program. Nine of them formerly were stationed in Europe.

The 12 include four fighter squadrons, three reconnaissance and three airlift squadrons, an electronic-warfare squadron and a special-operations flight.

This leaves 21 U.S. Air Force fighter squadrons in Britain, West Germany, Holland and Spain and six reconnaissance squadrons in Britain and Germany. No American tactical airlift squadrons are stationed permanently in Europe.

000 the queen gets from the nation every year should stay the same or be cut.

Another 38 per cent said the monarch should get the increase now being considered by an all-party committee of legislators, and eight per cent had no opinion.

Estimates of what her pay should be ranged from $240,000 to $2,160,000.

Although a majority was opposed to any pay increase, 78 per cent said they still believed Britain needed a queen, 19 per cent said it didn't and three per cent didn't know.

Proceedings in Arkansas High Court

Tea for Bride-elect

On Thursday, June 24 the Owen Nix home was the setting for a lovely evening tea given to honor Miss Linda Britt, bride-elect of Steven Skidmore of Nashville. Summer arrangements of fragrant magnolia blossoms enhanced the displays of the many gifts received.

The 75 guests were greeted at the door by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Wilson Britt; the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Carl Skidmore of Nashville; and Miss Britt's grandmothers, Mrs. J.V. Townsend and Mrs. John L. Britt, Sr.

Serving punch and petits fours were Mrs. Aubrey Albritton, Mrs. Olan Reeves, Mrs. George Rateliff and Miss Vickie Reeves. The serving table was covered with a mint green cloth overlaid with net. In the center was an arrangement of magnolia buds. Hostesses were Mrs. J.B. Martin, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Gene Jines, Mrs. Owen Nix, Mrs. Chester Holmes, Miss Debbie Homes, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. Jesse Brown and Mrs. John Treat.

Other members of the house party were Misses Karen Britt, Lori Britt, Susie Wakefield, Kitty Reeves, all of Hope, and Mrs. Zane Thomas of Nashville.

Birdie Club meets

Mrs. R.E. Cooper was the hostess for her Friday Bridge Club which met on June 25. Blue hydrangeas and gardenias decorated where the two tables of club members assembled.

After the scores were tallied, Mrs. H.C. Whitworth and Mrs.

Charles Harrell were high. Peach sundaes and cookies were served.

Ayres Cemetery Meeting

A group of people interested in the Ayres Cemetery on the Rosston Road met Saturday, June 12, at 7:30 p.m. to discuss ways and means of the cemetery's upkeep.

There were 14 present for the meeting: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Ruvel Bright, Velora Bright, Mrs. Effie Anders, Richard McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Waldo, G. W. Mainer of Michigan, Cortelia and Murlene Faught, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunt.

Mr. Beck was elected moderator of the meeting. After discussions, the group elected a committee which consisted of Mr. Bright, Mr. Hunt, and Mr. McElroy. Mr. Beck was elected as an alternate to this committee. Mrs. Beck was elected secretary and Mrs. Vernie Goynes, assistant secretary.

Those present gave $85 to start a fund for the cemetery. Others wishing to give may send donations to the secretary, Mrs. W. C. Beck, Route 2, Box 272, Hope, Ark. 71801.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. CHARLES R. CRAYNE

In a candlelight ceremony, Friday, June 18, in the First Presbyterian Church of Prescott, Miss Mary Gail Wilson and Charles Robert Crayne were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. (Nick) Wilson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Crayne all of Prescott.

The Rev. Dewel Smith, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Prescott, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Virginia Ann Daniel, organist, accompanied Miss Becky Bice of Arkadelphia, who sang "More," "Love Story," and "The Lord's Prayer." Candlelighters were Bobby Rouse of Hialeah, Florida, and Andy Crayne of Prescott.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of white organza and lace over taffeta fashioned with an Empire waist, stand-up collar, and bishop sleeves with self-covered buttoned cuffs. The bodice and collar were trimmed with seed pearls. Her finger-tip illusion veil was secured with a headpiece of lace, seed pearls, and crystals.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Wayne Carlson of Miami, Florida, cousin of the bride, matron of honor; Miss Tanya Perry of Prescott, maid-of-honor; and Miss Sandra Lively of Washington, brides maid. They wore pink, Empire-styled dresses of tulle over taffeta with matching headpieces. Flower girls were little Misses Teresa Thomas of Gurdon, and Gena Holder. They wore dresses matching the brides attendants. Jackie Manzella of the U. S. Army served Mr. Crayne as bestman. Groomsmen were Billy House and Leonard Sanford both of Prescott.

Ushers were Mike and Dale Burroughs of Hot Springs, and Jackie Crayne.

Miss Sara Grifford, had charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and queen anns lace held in a crystal container. Nosegays of carnations with pink velvet tapers decorated the table.

A miniature bride and groom topped the three-tiered wedding cake. Misses Donna Cockman, Dinah Bolls, Tina Bolton, and Cathy Buie of Foreman, served at the bride's table. Misses Connie Wilson, Tanna Murry, and Mrs. Robert Rogers Thomas of Gurdon assisted in dispersing hospitalities in the dining room. Cristl Taylor and Candy Grifford, gave out pinkie bags. Both the bride and groom graduated from Prescott High School. Mary Gail has attended Henderson State College and Charles is employed at Hope Auto Co., Hope.

The couple will make their home at 837 Wilson St., Prescott.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — If it involves television or radio and it isn't acting, Bill Cullen is a man for the job.

"I don't know what to call what I do," said Cullen, knocking wood, "but I haven't been unemployed since 1939."

Mostly, Bill plays games. For the past couple of years he has been on the panel of the syndicated "To Tell The Truth." Next Aug. 2, he will be host of a new NBC day-time game, "Three On a Match."

He got into broadcasting in his home town of Pittsburgh, arriving in New York in 1944 as a staff announcer for CBS. Radio is still part of his life—a syndicated radio show for the past 10 years, and six years on was mean and cruel—still the pill kept me going, for it gave me a temporary "high"—actually nervous energy that made me go in circles.

The last two months, when I awoke I shook so badly I couldn't hold a glass of water. Yes, I was losing weight—I'd take my pill, throw up, take another and then another, until I held one down. I lived for those capsules.

Incidentally, I never took pot or hard stuff—just those "safe" diet pills!

Well, thank heavens, I lost so much weight I couldn't get more rebills from the doctor. For five days I went through hell: severe headaches, fever, nausea, depression—I was a nervous zombie. After a week, my mind started to clear, but I still had chest pains.

Today, Helen, I'm heartsick because someone I love is getting hooked. She laughs when I warn her says she can control her dosages diet pills are "prescribed by a doctor," therefore safe.

Well, I've watched them create a fantasy world. I've seen a normally good-natured person fly into a rage over nothing, seen her on a non-stop talk marathon—that's one of the first things you notice: endless, often pointless chatter.

Dear God, it doesn't have to be heroin or LSD. I got to where I couldn't remember what I did or said and yesterday seemed months ago. Please, Helen, tell everyone diet pills ARE NOT SAFE! They're sneaky and insidious—you're hooked before you know it! And staying off is hard: you remember back to the "I'm greater than anybody" feeling when you're depressed, forgetting (unless you're constantly on guard) the "I'm lower than anybody" feeling that will surely come.—Un-HOOKED NOW.

Dear Un-Hooked Now: You've told them—better than I can!

Soon now we'll see a nationwide crackdown on diet pills. Already in many areas, prescriptions are being carefully watched, and refills (after six months) require a medical examination or careful questioning. Most doctors no longer say they are "safe." After all, these diet pills or capsules are the same "uppers" that are sold underground on cam-puee ($10.00-plus per hundred), and, gobbled by the handful along with "downers," can turn ordinary kids into freakouts.—H.

CBS Pres. Testifies at Hearing

By CARL C. CRAFT Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it came to news, the founding fathers read all about it. Television and radio weren't even a twinkle in their eye or a tingle in their ear when they wrote press freedom into the Con-

NBC's "Emphasis." But his broadcasting identity is rooted in a series of long-playing game shows where his quick ad libs and informal manner have paid off.

"Things overlapped," Bill said. "I was working on 'I've Got a Secret' when both 'The Price Is Right' and 'Eye Guess' started. 'Eye Guess' was still on the air when they decided to bring back 'To Tell The Truth.'"

The life of the average game show is short, but Cullen has been especially lucky. "I've Got a Secret" was well over 10 years old when it disappeared. He was host of "The Price Is Right" for nine.

His next assignment sounds like another variation of the question-answer games that fill NBC's day-time hour. Bill said it worked nicely in the pilot, then shrugged and said, "We'll probably bring in changes as we go along."

"One night on 'Price' the show was running short, and I threw in a bonus to fill up time: I gave away an auto. Another time when we were short of time, I put in a one-bid item—a trip to the Rose Bowl game. Both ideas were added permanently to the game."

He never sees the contestants of any show until they are on the air. "As host, the important thing is to make instant evaluations of the contestants. You must realize it instantly if, somehow, you're stuck with a smart aleck. They are always a potential embarrassment. I handle them by keeping them just off balance and never give them a chance to start anything," he said.

stitution. But if they somehow had felt news someday might flash through the air as well as roll from a press, would they have meant for electronic and print media reporters to be equals in the right of freedom from government surveillance?

If Congress pushes its contempt button against the Columbia Broadcasting System in the dispute over a House investigators' subpoena for raw material used in making the award-winning television documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," judges may reach landmarks in defining broadcast news liberty.

"I can assure you that we at CBS have not taken lightly either your subpoena or the concern that prompted it," CBS President Frank Stanton told the investigations subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee during a four-hour hearing last week.

"We recognize that journalists can make mistakes, that editing involves the exercise of judgment, and that we and other journalists can benefit by criticism," added Stanton. He refused to show Congress edited-out material or discuss editing activities that went into making the documentary which attacked Pentagon public relations practices. "But I respectfully submit that where journalistic judgments are investigated in a congressional hearing, especially by the committee with jurisdiction to legislate about broadcast licenses, the official effort to compel evidence about our editing processes has an unconstitutionally chilling effect," Stanton said.

Thus, he set the stage for an expected battle over the power of Congress and the rights of broadcasters under the 1st Amendment.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., chairman of both the panel of probers and the full Commerce Committee which is expected to be asked this week to recommend contempt action against Stanton, repeatedly insisted the case was not a 1st Amendment matter.

The issue, he said, involves whether a broadcaster, who is accused of distorting a program and misleading the public about the views of those appearing on it, can be held answerable in an appearance before congressional investigators.

Staggers said courts "have repeatedly held that under our system, the broadcaster is a fiduciary or trustee to the public." He quoted Chief Justice Warren E. Burger as saying: "After nearly five decades of operation, the broadcast industry does not seem to have grasped the simple fact that a broadcast license is a public trust subject to termination for breach of duty."

But Stanton cited various legal authorities he said supported his view that broadcast journalists, like print media, are entitled to freedom of the press guaranteed by the 1st Amendment.

West Wins in Coaches All America

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Imagine how Chuck Hixson felt if you will.

The Southern Methodist ace is a backup quarterback to Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett of Stanford. Plunkett is the No. 1 draft choice for 1970 in all of professional football.

And after a slow start, Plunkett is sizzling Saturday night in the 11th annual Coaches All-America Football Game.

Trailing 21-7 to the underdog East, Plunkett hurled a 34-yard touchdown pass to Otto Stowe of Iowa State, directed a drive climaxed by Joe Orduna's 17-yard run and sneaks over from a yard out for a 19-point third period and a 26-21 West lead.

The East rallied with Alabama's Scott Hunter going three-yards for a touchdown and a 28-26 lead with 2:14 left.

Hixson is kneeling on the sidelines. He has played only one series in the first half although he holds numerous NCAA passing records. It's obviously Plunkett's game, do or die.

Or is it?
West Coach Bob Devaney and Plunkett are in conference on the sidelines.

"We were debating who to go with and Plunkett said that he'd played a lot and Chuck hadn't so why not put him in," Devaney said.

Plunkett said "I just thought that he ought to have a chance because he'd played so little. After all, there isn't any difference between us."

So Hixson, a low draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs, is summoned off the sideline.

He converts a crucial third down and 10-yard situation with a 22-yard pass to J.D. Hill of Arizona State to the East 23.

The time is waning. Hixson drifts back and finds Nebraska's Orduna alone over the middle. Hixson wings the ball and Orduna grabs it on the 17 and runs over three tacklers like a Mac truck on his determined flight to the end zone. Thirty-one seconds show on the clock.

Orduna wins the most valuable player award. Hixson gets plaudits.

"I thought Hixson's performance was one of the finest jobs of clutch quarterbacking that I've ever seen," said Devaney. "On the winning touchdown, he went to Orduna, who was a secondary receiver."

Hixson, who will be fighting for a job with the Kansas City Chiefs, said "I didn't have any special instructions when I went in. I was thinking of getting two first downs to get within field goal range."

Anderson-Frazier 11-0 Over Blevins

Anderson-Frazier downed Blevins 11 to 0 and Citizens edged past Merchants 3 to 2 in Babe Ruth Action Friday night.

With Bill Artebury on the mound for Anderson-Frazier, Blevins was held scoreless while Anderson-Frazier scored almost at will, jumping off to a 7-run lead in the first inning, adding two each in the second and third.

A fired-up Merchants team, behind the one-hit performance of David Huddleston, played near-perfect baseball before Citizens could push across the tying and winning runs in the last inning. Going into the last inning, Merchants was leading 2 to 1. Clay O'Steen laid down a bunt that was fumbled just long enough for him to reach first base safely; he went to second on a wild pitch. Stagers then hit to the first baseman for one out as O'Steen advanced to third. R. Eanks then hit to first baseman for the second out but O'Steen was able to score from third to tie the game at two all. Steve Allen then collected the only hit off of Huddleston and scored when J. Rhodes hit a grounder to first baseman that was fumbled, allowing Rhodes to reach the base safely. Donny Hughes

Liquori Wins at AAU Meet

By KEN DONEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Two world records had already been claimed when three-time collegiate mile champion Marty Liquori took aim on the Amateur Athletic Union's national title.

It was raining, but that didn't bother Liquori, the Villanova star running for the New York Athletic Club.

"Unfortunately, the rain makes you a little tight, but it doesn't bother you that much," he said. Four of my fastest times have either been in the rain or right after, so I don't mind."

Liquori, who finished third in last year's AAU meet, had his way this time, winning in 3:56.5.

"I've felt good the last couple of weeks," said Liquori, who said he was looking forward to meeting world record-holder Jim Ryan again this year probably in Europe.

Ryan, who set the world mark of 3:51.1 in 1967, sat out the AAU meet with hay fever.

Liquori is headed for Europe and will pass up the United States' meet with the Soviet Union and a world all-star team this weekend in Berkeley, Calif.

However, the American team will include Rod Milburn of Southern University, who set a world mark of 13.0 in a semi-final heat of the 120-yard high hurdles, clipping two-tenths of a second off the mark first set by Martin Lauer of West Germany in 1959.

AAU officials said they hoped 440 sprinter John Smith of UCLA would also compete in the Berkeley meet beginning Friday.

Smith, running for the Southern California Striders, snapped by two-tenths of a second the world mark of 44.7 set by Curtis Mills in 1969.

Wayne Collett, a teammate of Smith for UCLA's NCAA champions, equalled Mills' mark.

An American record fell in the 3,000-meter steeplechase as Sid Sink of Bowling Green (Ohio) and Mike Manley and Steve Savage of the Oregon Track Club all surpassed the 8:30.6 mark held by George Young.

Sink won in 8:26.4 to 8:27.5 for Manley and 8:29.5 for Savage.

Christian Softball Action

In Christian Athletic Association softball action Saturday night, Liberty Baptist edged 5th and Grady Church of Christ six to five. There were no homers in that game. In the second game, First Baptist was defeated 19-13 by the Catholics. Vince Massanello hit two homers pitched for the Citizens team and only allowed three hits.

S.F. Giants Downed 5-2 by Astros

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
It never rains inside the Houston Astrodome but it generally pours from the San Francisco Giants anyway.

Sunday was no exception as the Giants lost to the Astros 5-2, making it 20 setbacks for their last 25 ventures inside the Dome.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 10-9 after dropping the opener 8-4, Montreal trounced the New York Mets 12-4, Los Angeles trimmed San Diego 7-2, the Chicago Cubs down St. Louis 4-1 and Cincinnati held off Atlanta 7-5.

In the American League, Boston took Baltimore 3-1, Cleveland shaded Detroit 3-1, Washington swept a pair from the New York Yankees 2-1 and 8-0, Oakland blanked Kansas City 3-0 but lost the nightcap 6-3, Minnesota edged Milwaukee 2-1 and the Brewers won the second game 8-5 and California whipped the Chicago White Sox twice 2-1 and 12-3.

The Giants jumped off to a 2-0 lead Sunday against rookie Ken Forsch, but the Astros took a 3-2 lead off Steve Stone in the fifth on RBI singles by Bob Watson and Roger Metzger around Doug Rader's sacrifice fly. Jim Wynn singled a pair of runs across against Jerry Johnson in the seventh.

The Pirates, meanwhile, blew a five-run lead against the Phillies and then had to overcome a four-run deficit before winning their nightcap on Roberto Clemente's pinch homer in the eighth. Willie Stargell, who hit his 28th home run in the opener and broke Tony Perez' NL record for most homers through June 30, struck out as a pinch hitter just before Clemente connected.

Earlier, Jose Pagan hit two homers and drove in five runs for the Pirates while Deron Johnson homered twice for the Phillies.

Roger Freed's game-tying home run and doubles by Denney Doyle and Willie Montanez keyed a four-run seventh inning that enabled the Phils to win the opener.

The Mets dropped four games behind Pittsburgh in the NL East when Montreal exploded for seven runs in the first inning against Charlie Williams and Jim McAndrew on six hits and two errors. Ron Fairly and Stan Swanson each drove in three runs as the Expos ended New York's four-game winning streak.

John Strohmayr, subbing for the ailing Carl Morton, pitched his first complete game in the majors despite Art Shamsky's three-run homer.

Richie Allen clouted a two-run homer and Bill Buckner and pitcher Don Sutton also had two RBI as the Dodgers whipped the Padres and chopped a game off the Giants' lead in the NL West. They now trail by 6½.

The Cubs moved past the Cardinals into third place in the East by handing St. Louis its 20th defeat in 27 games this month. Don Kessinger's two-run single in the sixth broke open a pitching duel between Ferguson Jenkins, who won his 11th, and Steve Carlton. Jim Hickman homered for the Cubs, Joe Torre for the Cards.

Cincinnati's Gary Nolan hurled perfect ball for 6 1-3 innings but needed Lee May's two-run homer in the ninth and relief help from Wayne Granger to beat the Braves.

Felix Millan spoiled Nolan's perfect game with a one-out single in the seventh and Hank Aaron belted the first of a pair of two-run homers. Bernie Carbo delivered three Cincy runs with a homer and double.

and John Henley hit one for the Catholics; Jim Singleton homered for First Baptist.

Boston 3-1 Over Orioles

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The First Commandment for American League base runners is simple: Thou shalt not run on Carl Yastrzemski.

Frank Robinson violated the commandment and Baltimore paid for the sin as Boston topped the Orioles 3-1 Sunday for their third straight victory over the American League East leaders.

Yaz cut down Robinson with a perfect throw, bailing Ray Culp out of a fourth inning jam and the Red Sox rightly took over after that, pitching Boston into second place, one percentage point ahead of Detroit and five games back of Baltimore.

BATTING—Jose Pagan, Pirates, drove in five runs with two homers to pace Pittsburgh to a 10-9 victory over Philadelphia in the second game of a doubleheader.

PITCHING—Jim Shallenback, Senators, hurled a six-hitter to beat New York 8-0 and give Washington a doubleheader sweep over the Yankees.

Detroit slipped to third place, losing 3-1 to Cleveland Sunday. In other AL action, Washington swept a doubleheader from New York 2-1 and 8-0, California took a pair from Chicago 2-1 and 12-3, Minnesota split with Milwaukee, winning 2-1 before losing 8-5, and Oakland split a pair with Kansas City, winning the first 3-0 and dropping the second 6-3.

In the National League, Montreal whacked New York 12-4, Chicago downed St. Louis 4-1, Cincinnati took Atlanta 7-5, Houston dropped San Francisco 5-2, Los Angeles defeated San Diego 7-2 and Philadelphia split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning 8-4 and then losing 10-9.

The Red Sox were leading 2-0 in the fourth when Baltimore nicked Culp for a run on a walk and singles by Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson. There were two out when Dave Johnson singled to left and Frank Robinson turned third and headed for the plate.

Yaz got Robinson the same way he's gotten several other runners this season and Culp was out of trouble. "The way I'm hitting," said Yaz, who struck out three times, "I've got to do something out there."

Boston hopped in front in the first inning when Doug Griffin opened with the first of his three hits and moved up on a double by Luis Aparicio. Reggie Smith's double chased both runs home. Griffin singled another run home in the fourth.

Detroit, also five games behind Baltimore, got beaten by Sam McDowell's four-hitter as Cleveland snapped a five-game losing streak.

The Indians, who had managed just two runs in 48 innings before Sunday, stretched that dry spell to 51 frames before reaching Mike Kilkenny for single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Roy Foster had two of Cleveland's six hits and scored the Indians' first run when he doubled in the fourth and scored on Ray Fosse's single.

Washington got six-hit pitching from Jim Shellenback to complete its sweep against the Yankees. Del Unser's two-run homer gave the Senators the first game.

Shellenback, whose only other win and complete game this season was a 7-2 decision over New York on April 20, was never in trouble after the Senators gave him a quick lead on a triple by Elliot Maddox and a single by Dick Billings in the first inning.

Unser's two-run homer in the third inning of the opener wiped out a 1-0 Yankee lead and was enough to end Stan Bahnsen's six-game winning streak. Jim Kaat's six-hit pitching eased Minnesota past Milwaukee in the first game of their doubleheader. The Brewers earned the split with a six-run sixth inning in the nightcap.

Leo Cardenas' two-out single scored Jim Holt with Minnesota's winning run in the sixth inning of the opener. But the Brewers captured the second game, bunting six hits including a two-run double by Dave May in the big sixth inning.

Billy Cowan, playing in place of suspended Alex Johnson, delivered a two-run double that gave California its first game victory over Chicago and Roger Repoz' three-run homer keyed a seven-run rally in the sixth inning that captured the nightcap, completing the sweep.

Cowan's fourth inning double capped a two-run rally started

Mitchell Has 7-Stroke Triumph

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — "There was pressure all the way," Bobby Mitchell said after scoring a seven-stroke triumph in the $150,000 Cleveland Open, his first victory in six years on the pro golf tour.

Mitchell, a balding 28-year-old and a pro since he was a 15-year-old assistant in a Danville, Va., shop, put the lie to the apparent ease of his elusive first win.

Mitchell birdied the first two holes from 12 feet, almost scored an ace with an eight iron on the third hole, tapped it in "and kind of left them behind," he grinned.
Mitchell, a husky, easy-going guy, had a final round 65, six under par on the muggy-hot Beechmont County Club course, a relatively short 6,643 yard, superbly conditioned layout in the Cleveland suburbs.

His 72 hole total of 262 was a fantastic 22 under par—on rounds of 66, 64, 67, 65% and was the second lowest winning total in the last 15 years on the tour.

Masters champion Charles Cood was a distant second at 269, seven strokes back and never really in contention. Coody had a final round 68. Australian veteran Bruce Crampton, Mitchell's playing partner, was next with a 69 for 270.

Jerry Heard, Jerry McGee and Phil Rodgers followed at 271. Heard had a 67 with McGee and Rogers matching 68s. United States Open champion Lee Trevino, never really a factor, had a final 71 and was 18 strokes away at 280.

Dixie Assn. to Be Abandoned

MEMPHIS Tenn. (AP) — The Dixie Baseball Association will be abandoned at the end of this season, Dr. Bernard M. Kraus, owner and president of the Memphis Blues said Sunday.

Kraus said directors of the Texas League have voted to return to an eight-team format in 1972, cancel a working agreement with the Southern League and discard the Dixie Association.

Kraus said the action by the Texas League directors was unanimous at a weekend meeting in Dallas.
He said travel and schedule problems brought about the 14-team Dixie Association, plus the many minor differences between the Southern League and the Texas League, both Class AA Leagues, prompted the decision.

when pitcher Andy Messersmith singled and it was enough offense to win the opener. Then Repoz, Jerry Moses and Ken McMullen slugged homers to complete the sweep—California's first this season.

Blue Moon Odom turned in his first complete game of the season, pitching a seven-hitter that shut out Kansas City in the first game of the doubleheader at Oakland. Joe Rudi scored one run and drove in one for the A's with a single and a double.

Lou Piniella accounted for four runs, scoring two and driving in two with a double and a triple, as the Royals earned the split in the nightcap.

WILLIE DAVIS, the Los Angeles Dodger's veteran center fielder, is off to a roaring start this season, staying up among the National League's leading hitters. He compiled a .274 lifetime batting average during his previous 11 major league years in the majors.

Carner 1st in Women's U.S. Open

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Donna Caponi has the key to the city of Erie, but it was JoAnne Carner who unlocked the Kahkwa Club course and latched onto the $5,000 first prize in the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship.

Mrs. Carner, a strapping strawberry blonde who can out-drive any woman on the professional tour, polished up her putting and parred the 6,306-yard course over 72 holes for a seven-stroke victory in the most prestigious of women's tournaments Sunday. Her four-round total was 288 with a final round of 73.

"No three-putts, that was the key," said the 32-year-old of Lake Worth, Fla., who said she got her game together in the last two weeks.

But for the girls who fell so far behind her—runner-up Kathy Whitworth, seven strokes back, and defending champion Miss Caponi, knotted with three others at 11 strokes off the pace—it was Mrs. Carner's powerful drives which were the key.

JoAnne's teaching pro husband, Don, said that because of the rolling terrain of Kahkwa, the kind of course JoAnne weaned on in Seattle, the girls have to birdie to beat her.

It was a flate course in Muskogee, Okla., last year that Miss Caponi played to victory, and the 26-year-old resident of North Hollywood, Calif., didn't change her game a stroke in her unsuccessful bid for an unprecedented third straight U.S. Open title.

"The Open really means I beat the pros," said Mrs. Carner, a five-time U.S. Amateur champion.

The pro to beat at Kahkwa was Miss Whitworth of Richmond, Tex. She is the all-time leading money-winner on the women's tour and has won 59 tournaments, but never the Open.

Miss Whitworth, tied with four-time Open winner Mickey Wright at eight strokes off the pace going into the final round, parred the course Sunday for $2,500 and runner-up honors.

Miss Caponi, winded and dined before the journey by this city of 150,000 on the Great Lakes and presented with the key to it, tied for third with Miss Wright, Jane Blalock and amateur Jane Bastanchury. Third prize was worth $1,233 to the pros.

Alexander Wins Top NL Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Kermit Alexander, veteran defensive back for the Los Angeles Rams, won the Whizzer White Award, the top honor in the National Football League Players Association's annual awards dinner Sunday night.

Alexander was named over four other finalists for the award named after U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron Raymond White. It is presented annually to the player who best serves his team, community and country.

The other finalists were Bill Curry, Baltimore Colts center; Andy Russell, Pittsburgh Steelers linebacker; Fran Tarkenton, New York Giant quarterback, and Willie Wood, Green Bay Packer defensive back.

The $125-a-plate benefit for the Chicago Better Boys Foundation was attended by an estimated 2,400 in the Conrad Hilton's International Ballroom.

Travelers 8-1 Over Birmingham

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers rolled over the Birmingham Athletics 8-1 in Dixie Association play here Sunday afternoon.

Birmingham's lone run in the game in the ninth inning after a dust storm had held up the game for nearly ten minutes.

Jackie Striping was the winning pitcher.

Bob Wissler, right fielder, opened up the scoring with a double in the second inning.

It was announced after the game that Wissler will be transferred to the Tulsa Club.

Arkansans in Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — R. H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., finished with a 282 total in the $150,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament Sunday to win $230.

Richard Crawford of Little Rock, Ark., had a 282 total and won $222.

Bobby Mitchell won the $30,000 top prize with a 282 total.

'Tie-Break' Tried at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON (AP) — The more things change, the more they stay the same.

It's like that with Wimbledon, where the crowds have been streaming through the turnstiles in greater numbers than ever this year.

The main change the Wimbledon authorities have made this year is to try out the "tie-break" system, under which a sudden death barrage of services is used to end any set except the final one which reaches 8-8.

But this year, the first tinkering with the rules of the game for many years, has gone almost unnoticed here. The idea is to avoid those long-drawn-out struggles that went on and on into the gloom of the evening, but opponents of the scheme thought it would eliminate those spine-tingling marathons like the Pasarell-Gonzales epic two years ago that saw-sawed back and forth for over four hours spread over two days.

But the cash customers, on whom the game depends, couldn't care less, apparently. Most of them polled strolling around Wimbledon's ivy covered courts or eating strawberries and cream on the lawns didn't know the system was in operation, while the players generally were in favor.

With half the tournament over, the field is down to the last eight in both men's and women's singles, with most of the last 16 in the men's and women's doubles finished.

Nine Die in Accidents Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nine persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this weekend. The total soared when three persons were killed in one accident and two others were killed in another accident.

The Associated Press weekend highway fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims were identified by police as:

—Paul Lee Dobbs, 23, of North Little Rock, who was killed early Sunday south of Little Rock as he was being pursued by Little Rock Police and his car overturned.

—Robert W. Brown and Frank Derrick, 37, both of Nashville, Tenn., were killed Saturday night in a tractor-trailer accident on Interstate 40 about 1½ miles east of Lonoke.

—Billy Terry, 16, Charles Bonner, 16, and Troy Culp, 15 all of Marvell, were killed when the car in which they were riding collided with a disc being pulled by a tractor on U.S. 49 near Marvell Friday night.

—Jessie Loyd Rains, 47, of Niconna Park, Okla., was killed early Saturday when the car he was driving collided with a pickup truck on U.S. 71 near Greenwood.

—Sameul Burton Pope, 47, of Huntington was killed Friday night in the collision of a car and pickup truck on U.S. 71 north of Greenwood.

—James H. Cline, 62, of Hot Springs was killed Saturday on Arkansas 227, near Hot Springs when he lost control of his car.

home runs (17) and runs batted in (39). His average is .237.

"I'll never complain about going up," Wissler said, "but I was just getting used to this park."

Other Dixie Association scores Sunday: Charlotte took a double header from Asheville 3-1 and 2-1; Shreveport squeezed by Memphis 7-5; Amarillo defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 2-1; Montgomery shut out Columbus 5-0; Jacksonville took a doubleheader from Savannah 4-2 and 4-3.

Denis Hulme Wins Can-Am Auto Race

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (AP) — A pre-race strategy of driving slowly to preserve his car paid off Sunday for Jackie Stewart as he swept by an ailing Denis Hulme to win the Canadian-American Challenge Cup race at Le Circuit over the favored McLaren team.

For 51 of the 75 laps it looked like the same old Can-Am story with Hulme's McLaren M8F taking the lead from the start and running easily at the head of the pack.

Then on lap 52, Stewart's Lola T260 outranked Hulme going into the hairpin turn leading to the start-finish straight and jumped ahead.

The 32-year-old Scot extended his lead throughout the late stages of the race and finished 66.8 seconds ahead of Hulme and a lap ahead of Peter Revson, the other Team McLaren driver.

Stewart said after the race he followed a strategy worked out by his team to keep the car running throughout the 198.5 mile event.

"I've been waiting a long time for this," the former world driving champion said after the race.

His average speed for the race was 100.95 miles an hour, compared with 98.76 miles an hour for the runnerup.

Hulme, leading driver for the McLaren team which has dominated Can-Am racing for the past four years, had trouble maintaining his pace and complained of nausea when the event ended.

He and several other drivers and mechanics apparently became sick as the result of eating tainted food prior to the race.

Lothar Motschenbacher of Beverly Hills, Calif., who finished fifth in a McLaren M8D behind fellow Californian Chuck Parsons in a similar car, almost decided not to race because he felt so ill.

However, Motschenbacher moved his car from the fourth starting spot he earned in qualifying to the back of the grid and decided to race for as long as he was able to fight off sickness.

Jim Adams of Hollywood, Calif., was not so lucky. He quali-

Cougar II Wins Turf Handicap

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DRUMTOP, James B. Moseley's mare who has been making American males dance her tune, was no match for the Lat in steps of Cougar II in the Ford Pinto Invitation Turf Handicap at Hollywood Park.

In fact the best that Drumtop, who had beaten males in three straight stakes in the East, could do Saturday was fourth as Mrs. Mary F. Jones' 5-year-old Chilean-bred Cougar II won the $25,000 grass test by a neck over Paul Mellon's Fort Marcy, the 1970 Horse of the Year.

Maribel G. Blum's Divide And Rule, the early pacesetter, was third, five lengths ahead of Drumtop, weighted at 124 pounds, one less than Fort Marcy and three less than the winner.

Cougar II carried Bill Shoemaker over the 1½ miles of his Ferrari 512 in eight position but felt so sick he was unable to start the race.

2:26 2-5 for a winning mutual payoff of $4.60 in taking his fifth stakes of the year, three of them $100,000 events.

The big race in the east—the $56,500 Saranac Stakes at Belmont Park—featured 3-year-olds, and the best was Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linger's Salem who got home by a neck over Farewell Party.

Jacinto Vasquez sent Salem, 121, four more pounds than that of Farewell Party and seven more than third-place Highbinder, over the mile in 1:34.45 for a payoff of $6.40. The winner was made the favorite after Calumet Farm's Son Ange was scratched because of a cough.

New York racing moves back to Aqueduct Monday.

BAD START
Lou Stringer set the major league record for most errors by a shortstop in his first major league game with four in his Chicago Cub debut April 15, 1941.

WHITEWASH KINGS
Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the National League record for lifetime shutouts with 90. Christy Mathewson had 83 and Warren Spahn 63. Going into the 1970 season, Juan Marichal was tops among active pitchers with 46.

Anderson Signs With Utah Stars

By JIM CHURCH
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — LaDell Anderson of Utah State has joined the parade of college basketball coaches into the pro ranks, signing a contract with the Utah Stars during the week-end.

Anderson, a balding 40-year-old who is immensely popular in Utah, fills a vacancy created when the Stars couldn't convince Bill Sharman, even in court, that he should remain. Sharman, who guided the Stars to the American Basketball Association title last season, quit in hopes of replacing Joe Mullaney, fired by the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association.

Stars General Manager Vince Boryla, in a news conference Saturday, said the Stars still would try to keep Sharman from signing with the Lakers, but wouldn't care if he coached another team.

Boryla said that statements Sharman made in court led the Stars management to believe that the Los Angeles club had something to do with Sharman's decision to quit the Stars with three years left on a seven-year contract.

Sharman maintained the Stars didn't live up to the contract. Sharman, who still hadn't signed with the Lakers, received $63,000 last season. Anderson's salary has been estimated at $50,000.

The Weber State Coach, Phil Johnson, recently joined the Chicago Bulls as an assistant to Dick Motta, another former Weber coach.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Life Depends on It

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—No doubt you are familiar with various forms of radiation to which the human body is subjected in the treatment of certain diseased conditions. In view of these processes, it seems to me logical to believe that our bodies must be in some way affected by the constant bombardment which they receive from the radio and television waves to which they are permeable. Will you please comment on this?

Dear Reader—Everyone is exposed to radiation, with or without television or other devices using radiation of one type or another. The very existence of life as we know it depends upon radiation.

Radiation energy comes from the sun and part of it is harmful to cells. The types of radiation most dangerous to the body are filtered out by the atmosphere surrounding the earth. The same waves used in X ray and similar radiation energy are actually in the energy striking the atmosphere. Some types of this radiation, called "cosmic radiation," encountered in space have caused some concern about space travel but have not proved to be a major problem.

The energy from radiation heats the earth, makes plants grow and activates chemical processes. We know that within a given range that limited amounts of radiation are harmless to the body—that is, they do not cause changes in the cells or cell damage. Scientists have had some real battles over what constitutes safe levels.

It is a bit ridiculous to say that radios, television or ovens emit less radiation than normally occurs from the earth's environment. Safe levels are determined by complex experiments and cognizance of what you are going to get from living on earth anyway. The safe limits for radiation also apply to medical procedures such as the frequency of chest X rays.

With the exception of a few isolated instances where a product has emitted more radiation than was legally allowed—usually because of design failure—there is no real problem from radiation from household appliances or similar sources.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS
The Young Return To Nature Foods

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food and Nutrition Writer

In San Francisco there is a revival of interest in food. The Street Cooking School is a going success and the coordinator goes in heavily for natural and organic foods and the best ways to serve them. His ideas attract older persons and many young. He believes that all cooking should be "fun, sexy and liberated."

The sudden upswing in new health food shops throughout the country is further proof of the public's growing interest in natural and organic foods. Low-cholesterol and vegetarian cooking has become almost a fad with the young.

Not so with Alan T. Rains, president of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Assn. in Washington, D.C. He does not think much of the newer emphasis on natural foods. In fact, he seems dead set against the whole concept.

"I think it's phony. I have been with this organization for 27 years and all that time I've been worrying about that segment of the government and the public who ignore the advice of the scientific community—that approved chemicals and fertilizers are not poisonous and that without their use we could not feed our vast public. They are certainly essential to fresh fruits and vegetables," Rains says, adding: "I also worry about people in Congress who are on a consumer kick. They want fresh fruits and vegetables dated. Nonsense. An apple picked last October and sold now, after being in cold storage scientifically controlled, is in perfect condition to be eaten now. What good will dating do? All one needs to do with food to test its freshness is to look and smell. Smell and look fresh? Then it is fresh."

He insists that many health food stores claim their produce is uncontaminated by fertilizer residues. And that their produce has been air-freighted to them from distant farms. This is often false," he says.

"Except in the case of fresh mushrooms, that claim is humbug. Either the growers are fooling them or the storeowners are fooling the public."

No, what the health fad-dist eat is probably the Monday morning garbage from the fruit and vegetable wholesale markets stamped, falsely, 'natural or organically grown,' he insists.

He says about 90 per cent of all Florida citrus fruit is now processed and much of California's. About 55 per cent of the potato crop is processed.

"But, otherwise, the sale of produce is in pretty good shape. Fresh strawberries are selling better than before. Most come from California, then from Florida. People seem to love them fresh," he says.

How to Say 'I Love You'

For easy reference in how to say "I love you" in some of the more important of the world's 3,000 languages we offer below a round the world declaration of love. We have used the familiar, not the formal, form of you on the supposition that you are on a familiar basis with the lady before the declaration.

To give your statement the added effect needed to insure sincerity, we have added the phonetic spelling in parenthesis when the language is written in the Roman alphabet. Otherwise, we have just used phonetics.

French: Je t'aime. (Zhuh taim.)
German: Ich liebe dich. (lkh lee-beh dikh.)
Spanish: Te quiero. (Teh k'yeh-ro.)
Italian: Ti voglio bene. (Tee vohl'yo beh-neh.)
Portuguese: Te quero. (Teh keh-ro.)
Russian: Ya tebya lyoo-blyoo.
Greek: S'agapo.
Hebrew: Anee oh-e-v o-a-h.
Arabic: Ana hibbik.
Chinese: Woh ay nee.
Japanese: Watakushi-wa anata-ni aishimasu.
Vietnamese: Toy vo em.
Hawaiian: Aloha oe.
Swahili: Nakupenda.
Finnish: Rakastan sinua.
Persian: Duset dar-a-m.
Turkish: Man suzi savi-ram.
Gaelic: Mo gra tu. (Ma graw hoo.)
Hungarian: Szeretlek. (S-e-hretlek.)
Swedish: Jag alskar dig. (Yahg els-kah day.)
Norwegian: Jeg elsker dem. (Yay EHLS-ker dehm.)
Danish: Jeg elsker dig. (Yi ehls-ker sigh.)
Hindi: M-e apko p'yarkata hu.
Dutch: Ik hou van je. (Ik ho-w fan yeh.)
Indonesian: Saya kasih kau. (Sa-yah ka-si cow.)
In all this outpouring of international love there exist some unusual and interesting features in certain languages. The Spanish and Portuguese versions do not really say "I love you" (which would use the verb amar) but rather "I want you"—the sort of direct statement more properly representative of hot Latin blood. In this they are joined by the colloquial Italian Ti voglio bene, which literally means "I want you well."

PERSONAL FINANCE

If they gave a prize for the simplest question with the most complex answer, one of the prime contenders would be the overseas airline game.

If you pop into an airline office and ask the price of a round-trip ticket from New York to London, for example, the answer can range from $197 to $782. What's worse, it's possible for two passengers who have paid those prices to be bundled aboard the same plane to make the voyage together.

Absurd? Not the way airlines are operated today. The extremes are so common they've almost come to be thought of as normal.

How one seat on a flight to London can possibly be worth nearly four times the price of another is one of those mysteries that most of us will never understand. But even if you can't comprehend the logic, you'd better try to understand the system. Otherwise, you may spend a lot more for your trip than necessary.

The system — if we can call it that — is an international agreement to set minimum fares for overseas flights. All airlines but one flying transatlantic trips are governed by the rate-setting of the International Air Transport Association.

But within the limits set by the IATA, an incredible complex of special arrangements has been constructed. Only by combing your way through this fiscal underbrush will you be able to come up with the cheapest passage.

There are one-way fares and round-trip fares, high season fares and low, tourist fares and first class fares, group fares for clubs, group fares for other small units, and even group fares for people who've never laid eyes on each other.

There are fares you can't get unless you buy other services at the same time. There are fares for people who fly on weekends and fares for people who don't fly on weekends; fares for people who can't stay long as well as fares for those who can guarantee to stay a minimum time.

If you hope to go to Europe this summer, begin now to try and unravel these rates to find which can apply to you. As a broad generality, your cheapest seat will come (1) if you can fly as part of a group (even if members don't know each other), (2) if you can fly in the middle of the week, and (3) if you can fly at some time other than the middle three weeks in August.

These three restrictions will make you eligible for what's called a GIT (group inclusive tour) rate, and will help you avoid the peak travel periods for which airlines usually demand a surcharge.

You will undoubtedly need help in making your choice among these fares. You can either call the airline itself, or a travel agent. Be patient, but insist they try all possible combinations to reduce your fare as much as possible.

By the way, one overseas airline does not belong to the rate-setting system fostered by IATA. It's called Icelandic, but don't let the name put you off. It does fly from New York to Luxembourg via the Arctic Circle route, but it has the cheapest fares of anybody.

Oswald: "We have set point limits for JACOBY MODERN, no-trump openings at the standard 16-18. In practice, we tend to reduce this a trifle. We don't open one no-trump with 18 points if the hand has any extra strength and we will open with 15 points if we have 10s and nines to back us up."

Jim: "Our limits are 16- to 18-. The important point is that we don't go all the way from 15-18 and use a random no-trump."

Oswald: "Those players who use 15-18 points for no-trump openings end up in a lot of no-trumps, but they also lose effectiveness. They get too high with some or miss game on others."

Jim: "Today's hand shows JACOBY MODERN bidding. With nine high-card points, plus a 10-spot, North jumps to game opposite a 16-18 no-trump. South has nine easy tricks."

Oswald: "If North and South were playing a 15-17 no-trump, North would raise to two. South would consider his 16 points, plus a 10 and two nines, enough to continue to three no-trump and he would achieve the same result."

Jim: "The blunderbuss 15-18-point no-trumper would also be raised to two. He might go to three on the theory that there was a special providence to watch over him, but it is far more likely he would stop at two and miss the game."

Enemy Guns Bombard Allied Base

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners again bombarded allied firebases below the demilitarized zone today as reinforced South Vietnamese and American units swept the jungles.

The U.S. Command said more than 20 rockets slammed into Charlie 2, an American base three miles below the DMZ, and there were "light" casualties, including some men killed.

Three South Vietnamese bases also were hit, but the Saigon Command reported no casualties. Five 100-pound rockets hit Charlie 1 and Alpha 1, east of Charlie 2, and three more rockets landed in Camp Carroll, a regimental headquarters in the mountains to the West.

Sporadic shellfire also was directed at American and South Vietnamese troops hunting enemy mortar and rocket sites around Fire Base Fuller, four miles below the DMZ. But a South Vietnamese spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said: "The intensity is very low now."

Fuller was abandoned last Wednesday night after heavy shelling destroyed 80 per cent of its bunkers and fortifications. A company of about 120 South Vietnamese infantrymen reoccupied the hilltop outpost late Sunday, but Hien indicated they went back temporarily to provide protection for other troops hunting the enemy in the area.

Two battalions of South Vietnamese infantrymen were lifted in by helicopter and with an armored unit of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division were sweeping the mountains northwest of Fuller. A similar sweep was under way to the south of the base.

Hien said they found another 18 North Vietnamese bodies, raising to 496 the number of enemy killed around Fuller since June 19. South Vietnamese casualties for the same period were 29 killed and 135 wounded, he said.

Most of the enemy dead have been killed by the umbrella of helicopter gunships, jet fighters, bombers and giant B52 bombers supporting allied ground troops. The U.S. Command said three more B52 missions were flown over the area Sunday night, dropping 270 tons of bombs.

House Could Set New Mark for Spending

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If it sticks to its rigid announced schedule, the House will have set a five-day spending record when it leaves next Thursday for a long weekend recess.

It will have passed in five legislative days five appropriation bills whose $41-billion total in so-called new obligational authority also will be a record for nondefense measures.

Two bills that cleared the House last Wednesday and Thursday appropriate $12.4 billion for the Department of Agriculture, environmental protection and consumer services, and $3.68 billion for the State, Justice and Commerce departments and the federal courts.

Their combined total is $240 million below funds requested by President Nixon.

Scheduled for House passage today, Tuesday and Wednesday are bills to provide $18.1 billion for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Veterans Administration, National Science Foundation and the space agency; $4.48 billion for the Treasury Department and the Postal Service, and $2.35 billion for the Interior Department. Their combined total is $373 million more than the President requested.

None of the five pending bills has been acted on by the Senate.

The House previously passed two money bills financing the legislative establishment and the Office of Education. Both have cleared the Senate but compromise versions must be worked out before they go to the President.

Six more annual money bills—including the granddaddy of them all the Defense Department measure—have not started through either branch of Congress.

Since all provide funds for the government financial year starting July 1, no federal agency is likely to have its budget cleared when the new year starts.

Anticipating that annual situation, the House has sent to the Senate an emergency bill providing temporary and limited financing until Aug. 6.

That's when the summer recess starts—and probably also when another emergency financing resolution is considered.

Missouri; twenty-nine grandchildren, three great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ethel Jones of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; two brothers, Lawrence Butler of Chicago, Illinois, and R.L. Butler of Prescott.

Funeral services will be held Saturday July 3, at 2:30 p.m. at the Sweet Home Baptist Church in the Upchurch community near Prescott with burial in Sweet Home cemetery under the direction of Hicks Funeral Home, Inc. of Hope.

William Cooper, a native of Hempstead County, a longtime resident of Hope and Grocer, passed away in a local hospital Sunday June 27, 1971. He was a member of Beebe Memorial C.M.E. Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma S. Cooper; four cousins, Miss Rachel Cooper of Hope, Floyd Cooper of Chicago, Illinois, Napoleon Cooper of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Daisy Lee Frank of Wisconsin.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Senate War Deadline Faces Defeat

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's nine-month Indochina war deadline faced near-certain rejection in the House today, dooming replacement of the nation's draft law before it expires Wednesday night.

Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, pressed for a vote, expected today, on accepting the war deadline tacked onto the draft bill by a 57-42 Senate vote—but neither backers nor foes expected House approval.

"We've plowed this field again and again," said House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La. "And those (end-the-war) proposals have been defeated every time."

The House-Senate compromise conference which also is expected to knock out the nine-month war-end policy statement.

But Senate antiwar forces have vowed to filibuster any such compromise and prevent extension of the draft until they have a mandate to President Nixon on getting out of the war.

The present draft law expires at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, leaving lawmakers scant time for passing a replacement.

But the Pentagon has announced a 16,000-man call for July and August, saying it could be filled if necessary with deferred men who now are coming back into the draft pool.

The Senate-approved amendment proposed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield would call for immediate negotiation of a cease-fire with Hanoi, followed by negotiation of a phased U.S. troop withdrawal in return for release of American prisoners, culminating nine months after enactment of the draft bill.

The House two weeks ago shouted down by voice vote a similar proposal—U.S. withdrawal by April 30 provided a cease-fire and release of U.S. prisoners could be arranged by then—along with six other end-the-war amendments.

The nearest any came to winning was the Nedzi-Whalen amendment for a Dec. 31 U.S. pullout. This was defeated 254 to 158.

The 158 was the highest antiwar vote ever in the House, topping 153 votes on a losing procedural effort last summer to accept the Senate's Cooper-Church amendment against use of U.S. ground troops in Cambodia.

Says Teacher Strikes to Increase

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

DETROIT (AP) — The president-elect of the National Education Association predicts that teacher strikes will increase in the 1971-72 school year.

And he believes that the NEA's 109th annual convention delegates will stand firm against public aid to private schools.

will surprise a lot of people," he said when asked about the possibility of such action.

He said strikes would not necessarily be over wages but "over reluctance of school boards to negotiate and reluctance to give teachers a voice in decision making."

Man Drowned in River

PLUMERVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Edward Daves, 23, of Vilona (Faulkner County) drowned in the Arkansas River, about five miles south of here, Sunday afternoon.

Prepared to Finalize Redistricting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Spokesman for Gov. Dale Bumpers said Sunday that the governor's office is prepared to finalize redistricting plans at Monday's meeting of the state Board of Apportionment.

Eugene Kelley, Bumpers' executive secretary, said Sunday the governor's office wants to stay "basically" with the single-member plan for redistricting which tentatively accepted by the board earlier.

The board will meet at 2 p.m. at the state Capitol.

The board had approved the single-member districts, but after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that multi-member districts were not unconstitutional, Bumpers indicated that some changes might be made in the plans.

Kelley said the governor's office agreed with Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton that single-member districts were the most "legally defensible."

He said the only changes the governor's office would suggest would be to restore "county lines whenever possible."

Residents Oppose Reformatory

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A spokesman for a group of Little Rock residents opposing the location of a proposed women's reformatory said Sunday they planned to ask Gov. Dale Bumpers to meet with representatives Tuesday.

Nathaniel Hill, who was elected chairman of a nine-man committee, said that if the governor is not sympathetic, the residents will seek the help of the Justice Department.

Monday, June 28, 1971

If all else fails, Hill said, the residents will seek a court injunction barring the location of the reformatory in their neighborhood.

Hill, who is the director of the Little Rock Model Cities program, said the residents feel the reformatory would lower property value and would bring a "corrupt" element into the neighborhood.

The state board of Correction and the Board of Trustees for the Arkansas School for the Deaf tentatively agreed last week on a plan to locate the reformatory in a building now used by the deaf school.
